

Yvon GUERRIER short biography

Yvon began his PhD in International Studies at Université Laval in 2022. His research focuses on "Governance and aid management strategies focused on systemic resilience for climate justice in Caribbean Small Island Developing States", under the supervision of Nathalie GRAVEL (Professor FFGG ULAVAL, Geography) and Sophie BRIÈRE (Professor FSA ULAVAL, Management). He currently holds the position of teaching assistant for the "Project Management in International Development and Humanitarian Action" course, supporting Mrs. Sophie BRIÈRE.

Yvon is currently a member of the:

- Canadian Association of Geographers (CAG), since 2023,
- Société Québécoise d'Évaluation de Programme (SQEP), since 2023,
- Réseau francophone des évaluateurs (RFE), since 2023,
- Secrétariat international francophone pour l'évaluation environnementale (SIFEE, Québec), since 2013,
- Association française des professionnels de l'eau et des déchets (ASTEE), since 2008,
- Société CATEDEL (<https://catedel.ca/public/>), since 2008.

He holds the following university degrees:

- Engineer-Agronomist, option "Natural Resources and Environment", at the Faculty of Agronomy and Veterinary Medicine of the Université d'État d'Haïti (FAMV/UEH, 2002),
- Master2 Science and Technology Agronomy-Food, specializing in "Tropical Agrarian Systems & Environmental Management, in the MOQUAS (Markets - Organization - Quality - Services) stream", at the Centre internationale d'études supérieures en sciences agronomiques - Montpellier SupAgro, France (2011),
- Master2 "Geography and planning, territorial policies for sustainable development", at the University of Maine, in France (2014),
- Master2 "International Relations, specialization: Management of international, intergovernmental and non-governmental programs", at Lyon III Jean Moulin University in France (2018)...

His areas of special interest include:

- Geography and risk perception, vulnerability and resilience of socio-natural systems
- Governance of small island developing states & Ecosystem services
- International cooperation & Climate justice
- Evaluation of projects, programs and public policies
- Community-based organizations (CBOs) & Sustainable development

Yvon is motivated and very interested in taking up this position, not only to contribute to the process of the CAG's vision, mission and objectives, but also with a view to consolidating his strengthen his skills.